
To our valued partners,

I am very pleased to share with you that as of August 3rd, Yousry Bissada will take on the role of President and Chief Executive Officer of Home Capital and its subsidiaries Home Trust and Home Bank.

Yousry is a proven leader in the financial and mortgage sector, with a career spanning 30 years that includes executive roles at institutions ranging from Big Banks to innovative FinTech companies.

Among those roles, he was previously Vice President of Servicing Operations at CIBC and Senior Vice President of Real Estate Secured Lending Products at TD Canada Trust. Currently, Yousry is President and CEO of Kanetix Ltd., a company that works with financial services firms to develop and implement digital and technology tools and offers a leading platform to source online quotes for financial products such as insurance. You can read more about Yousry's background in the press release issued earlier this morning.

In late June 2017 we received the endorsement of Warren Buffett who, through his holding company Berkshire Hathaway, made a significant investment in Home Capital. The appointment of Yousry, a strong leader with a proven track record, further positions the company for success.

The results are showing. We continue to attract new deposits and are confident in our ability to support and expand our mortgage lending business.

The team at Home Capital is focused on the future, and excited about the outlook for the Company. And of course, we are eager to help you meet the investing needs of your clients. Thank you, as always, for your support.

Best regards,

Benjy Katchen
